Dear Friends of the Preborn,

Even though Milwaukee was hit with nine inches of snow the day before the Joshua Glover Ceremony and the temperature was only 18-degrees the day of the Ceremony, scores of people gathered in Cathedral Square in downtown Milwaukee to remember the interposition of state magistrates back in the 1850’s and to demand that they do so in our day on behalf of the preborn.

The Joshua Glover effort was actually a 4-day event—March 12-15— with conference talks and street activity. You can watch and listen to all the talks and see some of the activity by going to our website AbolishAbortionWI.com. The Lord is raising up a Gideon 300 army across the state of Wisconsin. You can be a part of it no matter where you may reside in our state. We are building groups of people in all 72 counties. You can minister on behalf of your preborn neighbor in your county. Please contact us if you would like to participate.

The biggest impediment to seeing interposition accomplished for the preborn in this state is the fiction of ‘judicial supremacy.’ That is why we have enclosed an article entitled The Odious Fiction Destroying America. It repudiates the popular belief that Supreme Court opinions are the “law of the land,” that the Supreme Court is the final arbiter of all constitutional questions, and that all other branches of government must bow down to the Supreme Court even when they issue unjust/immoral/constitutionally-repugnant court opinions. Please take time to read it.

We have also enclosed our 12-page booklet which defines abolitionism. This is an important document that we put out during the Joshua Glover event—to people and to the magistrates—when we went to the Capitol on March 15th. We have received a great response to this booklet. It is changing the paradigm of how people view the murder of the preborn. Abolitionism is different from pro-life. You can obtain copies of this booklet to put in the hands of others for only 65 cents a piece and that includes shipping.

We want to thank you for your continued support of our efforts. What we are doing is so needed and necessary at this time, and your support helps us to get things done!

May Christ be glorified in the earth!

The 2nd Biggest Impediment to Seeing Interposition Effected for the Preborn in Wisconsin

The Pro-Life movement in America has made women who murder their own sons and daughters through abortion into victims. In fact, the pro-life movement has been conducting a nationwide campaign for years now to remove all laws that did criminalize the actions of the woman – all while promoting the mantra that the woman is a victim.

What they have done is a grave mistake. They are spitting on the humanity of the preborn child. They are not establishing justice for the preborn.

Even the U. S. Supreme Court saw the inconsistency of such non-penalties. Blackmun used the lack of punishment to the woman and the low punishment to the abortionist as proof that the preborn child must not be “a person” and abortion must not be murder. The Roe v. Wade opinion reads:

“There are other inconsistencies between Fourteenth Amendment status and the typical abortion statute. It has already been pointed out, n. 49, supra, that, in Texas, the woman is not a principal or an accomplice with respect to an abortion upon her. If the fetus is a person, why is the woman not a principal or an accomplice? Further, the penalty for criminal abortion specified by Art. 1195 is significantly less than the maximum penalty for murder prescribed by Art. 1257 of the Texas Penal Code. If the fetus is a person, may the penalties be different?” [Endnote 54]

The Court is pointing out the incongruity of the Texas law. 1.) The 3 to 6-year sentence for the abortionist came far short of the capital punishment proper to anyone convicted of the premeditated murder of another person; and, 2.) the mother is not punished at all.

The Court is saying “If the preborn child is a ‘person’, why no penalty for the mother and such minimal penalty for the abortionist?” By refusing to criminalize the actions of the woman and instead labeling her a victim – the pro-life movement has undermined both the humanity of the preborn child and the rightly stated argument that abortion is murder.

This foolishness by the Pro-Life movement—that the woman who murders her child is a victim—has created the second great impediment to seeing interposition for the preborn effected in Wisconsin and other states (the first impediment is the fiction of ‘judicial supremacy’). People think that women who murder their babies are victims.

When we are asked what the punishment should be for women who have illegal abortions (all will know it is against the law once it is against the law), we should unashamedly respond – \textit{whatever the penalty is for murder in the state where it takes place}. Justice must be established for the preborn. Murder must be prosecuted.

Of course, as Christians, we offer the good news of redemption through Christ to those guilty of abortion, just as we would any other criminal guilty of a capital crime. But that does not negate the God-given role of the civil magistrate to administer just punishment on behalf of society, and in accordance with justice.
A false belief that most all Americans hold to in our day is the idea that the U.S. Supreme Court is the final arbiter of what is constitutional or unconstitutional. The adherents of this belief – and there is a sea of lawyers in this country who have a vested interest in furthering this odious fiction – actually have the hubris to point to the Constitution itself and say that the Constitution declares the judiciary to be the final arbiter.

They proffer Article 6, paragraph 2 of the U.S. Constitution – the ‘supremacy clause’ - for their notion of judicial supremacy. But when you read Article 6, paragraph 2 – you realize that the Supreme Court isn’t even mentioned, nor are the federal courts of any kind mentioned. Article 6, paragraph 2 - known as the supremacy clause actually gives supremacy to the Constitution!

Wholly opposite of this view of ‘judicial supremacy’ was the view held by America’s founders. They viewed the judiciary as being the weakest branch of the government.

Thomas Jefferson stated in 1823: “At the establishment of our constitutions, the judiciary bodies were supposed to be the most helpless and harmless members of the government. Experience, however, soon showed in what way they were to become the most dangerous;”

Alexander Hamilton who was the most favorable to the judiciary - wanting to allay the fears that other of the founders had of the judiciary – stated: “The judiciary, from the nature of its functions, will always be the least dangerous to the political rights of the Constitution; because it will be least in the capacity to annoy or injure them.”

James Madison – known as the architect of the Constitution – stated: “The Judiciary is beyond comparison the weakest of the three departments of power.” He said, “In republican government, the legislative authority necessarily predominates.” The legislature does not bow down to the judiciary – rather the legislature predominates.

The judiciary is not the strongest – it does not write laws - it is not the final arbiter. Rather, as the founders stated, they are supposed to be the most helpless, the most harmless, the weakest, the least dangerous to the Constitution. All that has been turned on its head. Now all other branches bow down to the judiciary – as though they can do no other than obey. America has replaced a monarchy with an oligarchy.

Jefferson warned of this 200 years ago. He wrote in a letter in 1820 to an early judicial supremacist: “You seem . . . to consider the judges as the ultimate arbiters of all constitutional questions; a very dangerous doctrine indeed, and one which would place us under the despotism of an oligarchy.” He went on to write: “The Constitution has erected no such single tribunal, knowing that to whatever hands confided, with the corruptions of time and party, its members would become despots.”

And that is what the Supreme Court is in our day – despots. And they are not the final Jefferson stated in another letter in 1821 – a year later: “The germ of dissolution of our federal government is in the constitution of the federal Judiciary; an irresponsible body (for impeachment is scarcely a scare-crow) working like gravity by night and by day, gaining a little today and a little tomorrow, and advancing its noiseless step like a thief, over the field of jurisdiction, until all shall be usurped.”

And the judiciary has been doing exactly that for 200 years now. Rewriting the Constitution – giving themselves powers never granted them in the Constitution. Usurping all other government jurisdictions.

We now have social transformation without representation.

Men will forbear and so we should – but there comes a point where forbearance becomes sin. There comes a point where forbearance becomes cowardice. There comes a point when men realize they no longer have the convenience of acting indifferent towards the unjust and immoral actions of their government. And I submit to you that the lawlessness of the judiciary should not be forborne. I submit to you that the murder of the preborn should not be forborne.

Senator Oliver Ellsworth, the primary drafter of Article 3 of the Constitution which delineates the function of the judiciary, promised the people of his state before the Constitution was ratified that the federal judiciary was “not to intermeddle with your internal policy.” Now every governor in America bows down and bends over to the judiciary. They accommodate murder – they accommodate perversion of marriage – they’ll accommodate boys in the girl’s shower rooms too.

Their duty is not to accommodate or bow down – but to interpose.

The judiciary is the tyrant. They are lawless. We are under the despotism of an oligarchy. And this lawless authoritarianism of the federal courts must be broken – and it will only be broken by the interposition of the lesser magistrates.

Nowhere does the Constitution bind us to a suicide pact with SCOTUS.

As legal historian Alpheus Thomas Mason wrote not too long ago: “Implicit in the system of government the Framers designed is the basic premise that unchecked power in any hands whatsoever is intolerable.” The Supreme Court must be checked – and it must be checked by the state magistrates. Congress is a weakling. The state magistrates need to do their God-given duty and check the lawlessness of the judiciary.

The Joshua Glover Ceremony and Project was held from March 12th—15th, 2017. Scores of people participated in the effort, including nine pastors. The effort began with a series of talks on Sunday, March 12th. The topic was repentance—and included the titles When We Repent; Why the Pro-Life Movement has Failed; and Pro-Life Political Repentance. Repentance is an important part of abolitionism.

On Monday, Milwaukee was hit with a 9-inch snowstorm yet the day was full of street activity on behalf of the preborn, including delivering a letter to Governor Walker’s Milwaukee office demanding interposition for the preborn.

On Tuesday, the Ceremony was held in 18-degree weather. The event was one hour long with a series of speakers—keynote being former Green Bay Packer Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila. Those attending then marched to City Hall several blocks away.

Later they gathered at the mural of the Glover Rescue on Fond du Lac Ave. to hold signs and pass out literature. That evening another series of talks were given on the topics of Practical Path to Interposition; Why Abolitionism is Replacing the Pro-Life Movement; and Mission to the Magistrates.
On Wednesday, those participating went to the tyrant’s lair—the federal courthouse in downtown Milwaukee to expose the fiction of ‘judicial supremacy.’ Speeches were made and literature distributed. The group then traveled to the Capitol in Madison and delivered the enclosed booklets to the legislators. They also delivered a letter to Governor Walker’s Capitol office and to his mansion demanding he defy the federal judiciary and establish justice for the preborn in Wisconsin.

Outside the Governor’s mansion in Madison where one of three letters were delivered to the Governor to demand he defy the federal judiciary and defend the preborn.

Russell Hunter of Abolish Human Abortion was one of several speakers.

At Cathedral Square in downtown Milwaukee. The Ceremony held there highlighted the interposition of Wisconsin magistrates in the 1850’s in defiance of the federal Fugitive Slave Act and demanded of today’s magistrates that they do the same in our day on behalf of the preborn.
